STUDENTS WELCOME DEAN WITH ROUSING OVATION

Dean Carrothers was welcomed by a majority of the student body last Friday at the Winter Park Station on his return from Jacksonville, where he represented Rollins' interests at the S. A. Conference. Rousing cheers were given and there were urgent cries for "speech." However the Dean declined. The students escorted him to his home.

Twenty-Four Candidates Seek Position on Crew

Monday afternoon on Lake Virginia, Charlie Chase, who is coaching the Rollins crew aspirants, gave approximately a dozen green rowing candidates the rudimentary principles of pulling an oar.

Practice was held in the two-men rowing machine, the men taking turns. In order to avoid any possible injury to the shells from inexperienced handling, they will not be used for two or three weeks.

Two dozen men have signed up for rowing and Coach Chase hopes that out of that number he will uncover enough rowing talent to make a good beginning in the new sport.

Negotiations are now under way for meets with Ashville School of Ashville, N. C., and two boat clubs, one of New Orleans and one of Havana, Cuba. Several exhibition meets are also being planned.

Annual Freshman Dance Pleases Student Body

Friday night, December 2, the freshman class gave what was voted the best dance of the season at the Woman's Club. The faculty and upper-class students of the college were honor guests. Pete McKay, Jane Folsom and Ronald Stillman received in the attractively decorated ball-room. Barbara King and Janet Love presided at the punch bowl throughout the evening. The chaperones for the occasion were Miss Hannah Gartland, Miss Isabel Boice, Mrs. Gage and Mr. and Mrs. Leland Jenks.

Rollins Players Will Have Charge Tuesday Night

The Little Theatre Workshop of Rollins College will present an old English Miracle play on Tuesday, December 13, in the Recreation Hall of Rollins College. The production will be in conjunction with the regular Tuesday lecture and the public has been cordially invited. No admission will be charged and the program promises to be of great interest.

The Miracle play will be produced in the same unpretentious spirit that characterized these perform-

Gargoyle Spreads His Wings Over The Rollins Campus

[Official Bulletin of Gargoyle]

An organization known as Gargoyle came into being on May 4, 1927, under most auspicious circumstances. Charter members in solemn conclave assembled give forth the following pronouncement: a maximum membership of nine shall be limited to those who have attained literary recognition in periodicals of greater than local appeal. The purpose of the organization is to foster originality in writing and creative composition, to stand for freedom of expression and beauty of truth in literature, to seek to raise the standard and sustain the tone of publications on the Rollins campus. Any productions sanctioned by Gargoyle will bear its mark. The first Friday after the second Sunday in December shall be nominated Gargoyle Day, when the order of Gargoyle shall be conferred upon prospective initiates.

Gargoyle is a completely secret society, as to time, place of meeting and membership. No mention of it will be countenanced by members. Reference to Gargoyle will be authentic only when quoted from this statement. This shall be the only official bulletin ever issued. This bulletin will be published once each year.

FRESHMAN "KID DAY" PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Delayed adolescence was aptly displayed at Rollins College on Wednesday, December 2, when the freshman class celebrated "Kid Day." All ages were represented. There were shy ones, devilish ones, cute ones—in fact they were a playful lot.

The romper girls were not the least bit bashful. A good spanking was needed to remind a certain young lady that she had grown up and could not sit on a boy's lap any more.

One could see anxious faces peering from the class rooms as Baby Hampton wandered about alone. He was too sweet a baby to have anything happen to him.

The Internationl Relations Club Meets

The International Relations Club spent an interesting evening Thursday, November 1, at the home of Professor Jenks. Professor Bueno, the speaker for the evening, chose for his subject: "Pan-Latinistic Feeling Toward Uncle Sam."

Afer a brief resume of the Relations between the South American countries and the United States, Professor Bueno cited some of the ill feelings that have developed.

"South Americans", he says, "look upon the United States not as a Protectorate, but as a big fellow taking advantage of a more helpless one."

These strained relations are due to misunderstanding and Professor Bueno proposed as a solution the establishment of professorships in both countries; the study of Portugese in American schools, in that English is required in the South American schools; and the careful selection of salesmen to all South American countries, because they indirectly represent the American people.

Celebration of Rollins Entrance Into S. A. L. Held

A long chapel meeting on Monday, December 5, was held to celebrate the entrance of Rollins into the Southern Association of Colleges. All phases of the accomplishment were touched upon by members of the faculty and visitors.

Dean Carrothers gave a short sketch of the history of the Association and related his own experiences in Jacksonville.

Dr. McVea spoke concerning the future of the college as dependent upon the past. She closed by introducing Miss Meta Glass, President of Sweetbriar College, who pointed out the advantages the Association affords a college in the transfer of its credits to a universiy.

Y. W. To Hold Annual Christmas Bazaar Saturday

The Young Women's Christian Association of Rollins College will hold its annual bazaar at the Women's Club Saturday, December 10, from 2 to 10 P. M.

Several booths will be devoted to the sale of needle-work, flowers, fruit, candy and pastry. One booth will be given over to art work produced by the Rollins Art Studio. Unique features of the bazaar will include a fish-pond and fortune-teller, while music will be furnished throughout the afternoon by the Student Trio. Tea will be served, and in the evening dancing will constitute the main feature of the program.

The Y. W. C. A. is depending upon the support of the students, faculty, and friends of Rollins College to make the bazaar a success.

Motherly Church Worker—Would you care to join us in the missionary movement, my dear?

Flapper Fanny—I'm crazy to try it. Is it anything like the Charleston?

ROLLINS GOLF PLAYERS LEAVE FOR LAKELAND

Rollins College's first golfing team left Friday morning for Lakeland, Florida, to participate in the initial intercollegiate tournament of the season.

The qualifying round of eighteen holes was played Wednesday and Thursday, and the four men shooting the low medal score, compose the team. The men have been practicing on the Aloma, Dubsdread and Orlando Country Club courses for the past two weeks, and several scores in the eighties have been turned in.

The team was picked from the following men:

Lasberry, Manager; MacRoberts, McKeen, Fuller, Schnuck, R. Pickard, Pease and McCoy.

Friday is set for the preliminaries and Saturday the finals are to be played. In this Medal Play Tournament the three men with the low scores will receive medals of gold, silver and bronze. The two-man team with the aggregate low score will win the C. E. Todd trophy, a handsome cup.

To date three teams have entered

W. A. A. Holds Meeting To Elect New Officers

The Woman's Athletic Association held its first official meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 29. Preceding the business, the president, Harriet Pipkorn, talked on the ideals of W. A. A. and the significance of selecting the proper heads of sports. Election followed with this result:

Archery—Irene Galloway.
Hockey—Mary Virginia Fisher.
Swimming—Damaris Wilson.
Volley Ball—Freda Kuebler.
Basket Ball—Rosella Norton.
Hiking—Edevina Peterson.
Tennis—Martha Mathis.
Canooing—Bernice MacIntosh.

The point and constitution committees gave a report of their work. Aurora McKay was elected chairman of a committee to plan a W. A. A. party for the fourteenth of December. With this start the association plans to begin definite work and make W. A. A. one of the leading organizations on the campus.

Cleopatra's Two Loves Subject of R. L. S. Friday

"Cleopatra's Two Loves" was the topic reported upon at a regular meeting of the R. L. S. Friday night by Miss Barbara Sheffield and Katherine Hosmer.

High lights on the subject were taken from such authorities as Dryden, Plutarch, Shakespeare and Bernard Shaw.

This interesting program was appreciated by members both old and new, and several visitors.

When the old college has gone for years without anything happening. Then all at once she takes on a two-hour system of instruction and to cop that in one week's time Rollins enters the S. A. C. and Phi Alpha becomes a chapter of K. A. Southern, and the biggest Senior class in history is on hand to take advantage of these opportunities, and we sit down to think it over and consider what it means to be a student of Rollins in the year 1927, "Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling?"

We must have a new advertising manager after the first of the year. Anyone willing to work can earn from $15 to $20 a month getting advertising for the Sandspur. Will everyone desiring to take over this work see the Editor within the next few days.

We wish to express to the publishers of "Liberty" our appreciation for the copy containing "Fit, Fat and Fifty," by Rex Beach, and for their permission to use the article in the Sandspur. Owing to lack of space we are unable to use the article, but we heartily recommend it to anyone wishing to read something unusually interesting and humorous. Since Rex Beach is an old alumnae of Rollins this story should be especially interesting to all the students.

AMONG THE FACULTY

Today (Friday) we would find President Holt in Albany, New York, where he will speak tomorrow before the Foreign Policy Association on "Naval Disarmament."

The Dean will speak Friday night at a Father-Son Banquet in Daytona on "?"; at least when we asked him he couldn't remember which one of his 103 speeches he had already given at Daytona.

Mr. Irving Bacheller, who will teach a course in the short story next term, will come to Winter Park early in January. Students will have to find new foraging grounds for oranges.

Mrs. Newby and Mr. Spigel have started extension courses in Art in Orlando. This is a big step for Rollins but Miss Kimmel wants to know who Art is?

One of the brilliant musical events of the year was the recital given Monday night in Knowles Hall by Miss Lela Niles, head of the Piano Department in the Conservatory. Miss Niles is well known in local musical circles as an accomplished pianist and every appearance is greeted with applause. The two Brahmns numbers in the first part of the program were most interesting. The "Rhapsody in B Minor" made a particularly brilliant ending to this first group.

In the second group the contrast in composers was quite marked. Liszt's arrangement of "Hark, Hark the Lark" seemed especially to appeal to the audience. The lovely melody in Chopin's "Nocturne in G Minor" as brought out by Miss Niles, was in sharp contrast to the "Juggleress" by Moszkowski which was particularly difficult to play. Miss Niles played both numbers well, both technically and artistically.

The last group was very modern. The first three numbers were unique and unusually interesting. "Cradle Song," by Palmgren was a beautiful number and Miss Niles gave a most sympathetic rendition. The last number, "Valse Brilliante" by Mana Zucca, made a most complete ending to a program which was artistic in every detail.

The musical part of the lecture Tuesday night was given by Miss Cox and Mr. Andrews. They played the well known "Londonderry Air." Miss Cox gave her usual strring rendition of this beautiful number and Mr. Andrews at the organ made an unusually lovely accompaniment stand out without overshadowing the solo.

Ben—Regular deluge, isn't it?

Nie—What's that?

Ben—You've read about the deluge, surely? Noah and the Flood and all that?

Nie—No, I haven't seen a newspaper for three days.

Grocer (to boy): Hm! So you want a job, eh? Do you ever tell lies?

Jim Shelbourne(applying): No, but I'd be willing to learn.—Harvard Crimson.

Give him the best

In stationery, there can really be no alternative — the best is none too good. The written letter is an intangible symbol of the one who pens it. There is always something so intensely personal in a gift of this kind—so surely an indication of the good taste of the donor.

Men, while not always admitting it—are appreciative of fine stationery and none can be found that will be better than the widely diversified line of

WHITE & WYCKOFF'S
DISTINCTIVE STATIONERY

To the boy off at college — the sweetheart... the father or brother ... this Christmas — give writing paper as the Gift De Luxe. For innumerable days, afterward, through the year, this gift reacts your wisdom in selecting it.

We make it very easy indeed for you to select not one gift of stationery but many, by putting in the widest possible line and in modish styles from paper makers who are acknowledged artisans in their field.

MRS. J. PHILLIPS HALLA ENTERTAINS SORORITIES

Mrs. J. Phillips Halla entertained the four local sororities with a bridge at her home on Lyman avenue, Friday evening.

Nine tables were arranged in the attractive drawing room and on the porch. Flower boutonnieres were awarded to Geraldine Lawrence, Damaris Wilson, June Mosher, Katherine Hosmer, Freda Kuebler, Virginia Lawrence, Camille Beach and Mrs. H. F. Kelly, the high scorers.

Refreshments of punch, ice cream, cakes, and candies were served to the guests. Afterwards the electric player piano furnished music for a dance.

Omniquaerentes will take in its new members at a party to be held at the home of Hazel Sawyer on Friday night the ninth of December.

A Christmas pageant will be given at the Recreation Hall by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. of Rollins College at their joint service Sunday evening, December 11, at 7:30 P. M.

The program will include special Christmas music and the singing of Christmas carols. The public is cordially invited to attend.

PHI ALPHA NEWS

Last Saturday night, at the home of Donald Justice, the Phi Alpha pledges gave a smoker for the active members of the chapter.

The entire chapter gathered at about eight o'clock and smoked, played bridge until a late hour.

A variety of refreshments was served during the evening.

Those present were: Members, Goodell, Warner, Upmeyer, Hubbard, Ichnuds, Graham and Zoller; Pledges, Justice, Shrewsbury, Proctor, Rashid, Cox, Winchell, McKean, Schmeltzer, Ward, Stoneburn, Hohannes and Pease.

PHI BETA PICNIC

A sturdy crew piloted a warship across Lake Virginia to the "Happy hunting ground" Tuesday evening.

Dogs, pigs, and other savory sacrifices were offered to the gods of hunger. The merry men relishing the spree were members and pledges of the royal order of Phi Beta.

K. E. KOMMENTS

Mrs. U. G. McQueen entertained for Kappa Epsilon sorority from 4 to 6 Monday afternoon at her home on Chase Avenue. Mrs. McQueen has returned from a tour of the world and particularly of the Orient.

She showed the treasures that she has collected in her travels and spoke informally of the many interesting places she has visited. The account of her experiences in Siam, where she was entertained by the Royal family, was very interesting.

Later in the afternoon delicious refreshments were served. Mrs. J. K. List and Mrs. E. H. Riggs poured. Other guests were: Mrs. H. F. Harris, Mrs. W. A. Wattles, Mrs. W. W. Rose, Mrs. F. W. Lady, Mrs. Leroy B. Giles, Mrs. F. H. Enwright, Mrs. B. A. Burks, Mrs. H. F. Kelly, Mrs. H. E. Osterling, Mrs. E. R. Phillips, Mrs. H. S. Thompson, Mrs. White, the Misses Myra Thomas, Billie and Martha White, the active chapter and pledges.

SIGMA PHI

"Ebbie" Dodge was hostess to the J-Club Saturday night at the Sigma Phi house. After a regular meeting in the wee hours of the morning the following girls nested on our famed double deckers: Martha Mathis, Katherine Adams, Nadine Wright, Tiny Peterson, Genevieve Smith and Evelyn Dodge.

We had as Sunday visitors, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Annabeth, Helen and "Weedy" of Jacksonville, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Wilkinson of Edgewater and Dorothy Connor, Lake Gem.

Despite rain and reported blizzard the Wekiwa week-enders fared forth. A good time was reported by Louise Holland, Mary Hall, Mary Virginia Fisher, Marjorie Ufford, Gladys Morton, Fleetwood and mascot.

SIGMA PHI

Mrs. Halla's bridge Friday evening was enjoyed by many of our girls.

"Dickie" attended the Georgia-Georgia Tech game at Atlanta Saturday.

Eleanor served us another duck, Tuesday, at the beanery.

All the children at our house welcomed the cold weather so they could send their letters to "Santy" up the chimney.

PHI OMEGA

Phi Omega announces the following as pledges: Marion McCutcheon, Winter Haven; Mary Race, Crescent City; Camille Beach, Tampa; Eleanore Krause, Orlando, and Ruth Paine, Clearwater.

On Wednesday, Phi Omega entertained with five tables of bridge for the pledges and friends. Marcella Halper was high scorer, and Eleanore Krause received the cut prize. Orlando DeMolays served the entertainment when they initiated new members.

Every other ring of the door bell brings an inquirer for roller skates. Bob says it won't be long before the Skate Club will put on exhibitions. Perhaps it is waiting for Mary Race to recuperate.

Many Phi Omegas enjoyed Mrs. Halla's hospitality when she gave a bridge party Friday night.

After Professor Bueno looked out for his Theta boys, he came across the street to see how Mrs. Bueno was taking care of us. Evidently he approved because he stayed long enough to inspire Zip to break into the Piggly Wiggly and return with food for a buffet supper in the Buenos' honor. The kitchen held some party! The fights earlier in the evening, Frances' birthday cake, and the laughter weaken those who weren't worn out from skating. Prof. says he is coming back to show how real coffee should be made. We are sure Sofie will be on deck at that time.

ALPHA OMEGA

There were no occupants downstairs at the house Saturday night, and a deserted gloomy aspect prevailed. How cum? The "J" Club held a meeting elsewhere.

All of our bridge fiends turned out for Mrs. Halla's bridge Friday evening and have been talking about the lovely time they had ever since. Let's have more affairs of this sort.

Gene has been given a treasure chest all hand made and lined in scarlet satin. The woods seem to be full of Captain Kids around Orlando.

What with evening algebra classes and bridge parties, there have been plenty of overnight visitors at the house this week.

Tinker and Tinny have discovered a new thrill, namely Fleet's motorcycle. Minus a little grease such rides might be rendered more enjoyable however.

Dean took a flying trip home to Daytona Sunday.

Heard several times at the house since the Tomokan proofs have been finished, "Heavens—do I look like that?"

On Kid day our "infant pledges" furnished candy and sandwiches to all needy sufferers.

Father—Lucille, who was in the parlor with you last night?

Lucille—Why, only—only Margie, father.

Father—Well, when you see Margie tell her she left her pipe on the piano.

Rogers—What will become of a child who constantly clings to his mothers skirts?

Cafeteria Nick—He may become a trapeze artist.

Teegan calls his sweetie "vacuum" because she can't be filled.

WILLIAM ELBERT WINDERWEEDLE

William E. Winderweedle, the pride and responsibility of Day, Florida, came to Rollins College three years ago with the idea that college was a place where you slept in the morning, loafed in the afternoon and went to dances at night. Right here let us draw the curtain on "Red's" dancing ability, when he came to college but he is a mean hoof shaker now, no matter how dark his part.

"Red," alias God's red-headed gift to athletics, has made himself indispensible to the many activities of college life, as a terror to his opponents on the football field, a graceful wielder of tea cups, and an expert racketeer. As an efficient carver of meat at Tuesday night suppers, he is unequaled.

It is unnecessary to go into the tantalizing effects of Elbert's glowing mop upon the fingers of tender ladies and although only twenty-one years of age we gather his experiences have been great for his discretion has become so well developed with practice that nothing of his past can be gleaned from him.

"Red's" achievements read like a page from the life of some story book hero, numbering among other things, four years of varsity football, three years of tennis (Captain and manager o fthe team two years) champion of the college for two years, basketball three years, baseball one year, swimming one year, president Y. M. C. A., member of debating club, Sandspur staff two years, Tomokan staff, "R" Club three years, Theta Kappa Nu, and Rho Kappa Sigma.

From his ability to dodge our cross questionings on various personal matters we gather that "Red" has a keen legal mind. This may all sound flippant but let us make it very plain that we hold the highest opinion of his many present diversified abilities and his future destination.

JULIA LUCRETIA FARRISS

Julia Lucretia Farriss, diplomat and grade maker par-excellence of Rollins College came to this institution after three and one-half years at Central High School of Birmingham, Ala., where she was a member of the Promethian Literary society, one half year at memorial high in Orlando, and one year at Florida State College for Women.

Julia, not unlike that famous Lucretia of history of whom we used to read when we could get a chance to slip off to the attic, seems to hold a deadly fascination over all the men who come within range of her charm. She, too, seems to have that same desire to see people struggle fiercely and undergo great hardships, being quite fond of all athletic sports, football, boxing, baseball, basketball, etc.

We have it from some source that she is rather literary in inclinations and has set her heart on advancing the present or future amount of learning along those lines. We also understand that her sole reason for indulging in the course in Philosophy is that she hopes it will give her a broad world view when in difference with hard-headed boards of trustees.

Julia has won an enviable record for herself in high grades both before and since she came to Rollins. It is doubtful if anyone else has attained her high average. For her school activities she has an unusually good record considering that she does not live on the campus. She was a member of Pan-Hellenic during her second year at Rollins, a member of Alpha Omega sorority, Rollins Key society and Treasurer of Le Cercle Francais.

Since she has that "never say die" spirit we predict a bright future for her in her chosen line.

FRESHMAN "KID DAY" PROVES BIG SUCCESS

Classes were attended on time, since skipping was quite proper. Yes, the professors were compensated because bannisters were used as time savers.

Toys were in evidence everywhere. The driveway proved as good a sand pile as that back home, and the horse-shoe rang with dear little voices singing Farmer in the Dell.

Perhaps the successful acting of the "Kids" made the sophomores jealous, because some little boys were thrown into the water with all their clothes on. They did not cry—indeed the freshman class must be at that cute age where they like to play.

CELEBRATION OF ROLLINS ENTRANCE INTO S.A.C. HELD

The history of the college was taken up by Dr. Blackman, who said that while the faculty had always been good the equipment had been very poor.

Mr. O'Neal compared the present resources of the state with its limitations in the past and pointed out the important position which Rollins holds in the community as a whole.

Ray Green spoke in behalf of the alumni and read a letter of congratulation from its president.

The exercises closed with Dr. Campbell's speech, in which he reminded us that the Association stands for scholarship and cooperation.

"Our work here is to help the south to progress, and our standards are set in Rollins," he said.

Preceding the play the combined College Glee Clubs will give a program of Christmas music under the direction of Mrs. Edna Wal Johnston. A cordial invitation is tended to all to attend. A free offering will be received to aid in fraying the expenses of the pre tation.
